Tuesday Evening

Dear Nellie I have just come in from Cambridge where I went this forenoon - They expected much regret that you did go to Cambridge, my dear & her husband called on the Monks last evening, they much told Sylvia you had gone and had come to see more of them. I told them that you did intend to come, & explained the why's & wherefores. Elizabeth in meeting you said well she is gone the little creature & we did not see her. You remember you have not seen her much of late. Going down to the office I called into the rooms, & paid Knapp for 3 more days of the free. I there met Mr Woodbury - brother to Woodbury, Knapp introduced me, & he told me he listened last night at Medford, where he had a full house — the town Hall — a great multitude went & not very able to get in — Rather sd. said there was but two abolitionists in the place. & here rather go to places where we are not known, & plough up the ground. He was on a high horse. We are all invited to Cambridge to dinner Thursday Afternoon Longfellow is to be there.

I am sorry to say artist next week, so Thursday morning. & Thursday Anne will too. Oh how I thought of you last night, but I will not say — write me soon. If any one has a letter it will do, only let us hear. Yours ever Mary
